

Cell Phones - in general

Cell phones are very convenient and it is very difficult in our society to live and to work without them. However, not everything in our society and in everyday life which comes in handy is necessarily good for you or healthy! For example: Fast food, sugary drinks, cell phones, microwave ovens, processed foods, snack-foods, WiFi, electric cars etc.

It is absolutely not "smart" that we work with these so called smart phones. The industry wants you to believe that these devices are "smart", as well as the consumer who uses them. If you were to launch a new brand of cigarettes and call them, "Smart Cigarettes", that still would not make smoking healthier or the smoker more intelligent, would it?

Cell phones are a huge multi-billion dollar business. At this moment there may be 7-8 billion cell phones registered on the planet, greater than the world's population! The numbers are ever increasing. Particularly among teenagers and kids. No provider or mobile phone manufacturer had ever to prove to the health department or any governmental authority that using a cell phone is safe. Because it is NOT SAFE! These companies maximize profits regardless of the health damage and risks to their customers.

In 10 - 20 years our children will ask,
"Why were you so stupid to believe them?"

Cell phones are so dangerous that their use over the next 10 to 15 years possibly may cost the lives of millions of people, including extremely painful conditions such as brain cancer. The newer the phone - the stronger the signal - the bigger and faster will be the potential damage to your health.

A cell phone works on the same wavelength as a microwave oven. The average use of a cell phone in a month is roughly equivalent to sticking your head in the microwave for 1 hour on the highest setting and pushing start. Who would consciously do such a crazy thing? Hopefully no one is stupid enough to kill themselves so horribly, however you probably do not know that you threaten your health in such a way every single time you use the cell phone.

Let's be clear. Cell phone providers know what they are doing. They have executed many secret experiments, such as using pigs to find out how deep the EMF Electro Magnetic Fields penetrate into their skulls. They lightly mention a possible health risk but it is deeply buried in their literature. For example: The operating manual for the iPhone 6 is 196 pages long. And of course, everyone thoroughly reads a 196 page manual, correct ?
